STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS,

Adjutant General's Office,

January 1st, 1891.

His Excellency DANIEL G. FOWLE,

Governor and Commander-in-Chief:

SIR—In compliance with law, I have the honor to submit herewith my report for the year ending December 31st, 1890. I am, very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

JAMES D. GLENN,

Adjutant General.

ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

ADJUTANT GENERAL.

The North Carolina State Guard consisted at the close of the last year of twenty-eight companies of Infantry (white), one troop of Cavalry (white), and one company of Infantry (colored), numbering in the aggregate (including officers of the General Staff and Brigade and Regimental staffs) 1,505 officers and men. During the year two new companies have been mustered into the service — namely, Company F, Second Regiment, and Company F, Third Regiment — and one company, which was formerly Company A, Second Regiment, has been allowed to withdraw from the State Guard and resume its former status as an independent company, under a charter granted in 1819; thus making, at present time, twenty-nine companies of Infantry (white), one troop of Cavalry (white) and one company of Infantry (colored), with an aggregate of 1,478, including all officers and men.

The regimental organizations of the Guard are the same as they were at the date of my last report, except that Major B. B. Goins, commanding First Battalion (colored), having tendered his resignation as Major of the battalion, it was accepted and the battalion formation disbanded.

While there is an apparent, though small, diminution in the total strength of the Guard, its force and effectiveness is in nowise diminished, but, on the contrary, increased, as the loss in numbers has been caused by dropping from the rolls of the companies all members who were not strictly active, and I am sure that, upon a call from your Excellency, a greater per cent. of well-armed, equipped and disciplined troops would respond than could have done so before since the formation of the State Guard.

NEW COMPANIES.

As stated before, two new companies have been mustered into the service during the year. A great many applications have been received from persons in various parts of the State, but as the law only allows the appropriation to be paid to thirty companies, and there now being one over that number, it has been thought best not to give any more permission to organize, especially as there are no arms on hand with which to equip them.

CORRESPONDENCE.

The correspondence of this office has been quite as onerous as heretofore. All letters received are promptly and courteously answered, from those on the most important subjects to the most trivial, not excepting the one that wanted the loan of a U. S. Government gun with which to shoot turkeys and squirrels, under the promise to take good care of and return the same.

The Secretary of State, Colonel W. L. Saunders, has very kindly sent me the Roster of North Carolina troops in the Confederate army, so I am enabled to give many old soldiers information as to their commands, etc.

UNIFORMS.

Every company of the State Guard is now uniformed in the State Regulation Dress, a very handsome uniform of same color and pattern as worn in the U. S. Army, except that the coats are double-breasted, and all trousers have a white stripe. The fine appearance made by the regiments at encampments, all in one uniform, was very marked and pleasing. The cloth for these uniforms was furnished by the State, but the men had to pay for having them made up themselves. They deserve great credit for doing this, as many already had serviceable uniforms bought entirely at their own expense. Company C, Second Regiment, deserves special credit, as this company had a new uniform lately bought, of a very handsome and costly design, made of the "historical gray" that had been for years the uniform of this company, yet, at their own expense, at very short notice, they had the regulation dress made and wore it to encampment. This company is particularly fortunate in having as its commander an officer whose example is well worthy of imitation by others, a gallant soldier who was ever at the post of duty during the four long years of civil war, when the very souls of men were tried; now an officer of the State Guard who yields ready and cheerful obedience to the orders of his superiors, tho' some of them were but boys when he was manfully battling for his country's rights. Well may the young Colonel of the Second Regiment be proud of such a company and its commander.

GENERAL CONDITION.

Not only are all the companies in one uniform, but their equipments, with few exceptions, are in good serviceable condition; all but a few have the regulation overcoats, and they will be provided very soon.

In arms, equipments, drill and discipline the North Carolina State Guard will compare favorably with any State in the Union.

ENCAMPMENTS.

In compliance with General Orders, No. 8, the encampments of 1890 were regimental and not brigade, the First and Third Regiments going into camp on July 22d, continuing till the 29th of July, and the Second and Fourth from the 5th to 12th of August inclusive.

I am satisfied that all the good results either expected or wished for were realized in the regimental encampments; each Colonel was alone responsible for the drill and discipline of his own regiment and the conduct of his own camp; feeling this responsibility, each gave all details his personal attention; the officers and men, seeing the zeal manifested by their commanding officers, became more interested themselves and endeavored in every way possible to aid and assist them in having all orders obeyed to the letter, and I feel sure more real good was accomplished by the encampments of 1890 than has ever been attained at any previous one in this State.

Having been ordered upon special duty under Section 18, General Orders, No. 8, I repaired to Wrightsville a day previous to each encampment, had the troops report to me by telegraph on their departure from home and in person on arrival at camp, and exercised a general supervision of each camp and the conduct of the same during both encampments, as directed by said order.

Upon their arrival at camp I immediately directed regimental commanders to take charge of their own commands, and notified them that rules prescribed in General Orders must be strictly carried out. I am happy to say I found no occasion to criticise the conduct of any camp, and every courtesy was extended me by all officers and men. The attendance was not so good as heretofore, several companies appearing with very thin ranks; this was especially noticeable at the first encampment, and one company, Company E, First Regiment, was not represented at all.

I find it is becoming quite a drain upon the men to have to feed themselves and bear all their expenses except transportation, and after attending one or two encampments the novelty is worn off and many attend simply from a strict sense of duty and not from any pleasure they expect to derive at camp.

Knowing these facts I endeavored in every way possible to allow the men as much time as was practicable in which they could have the liberty of enjoying themselves as they thought best, not to conflict in any way with the hours of drill and other duties, and whether on or off duty, in or out of camp, they were to deport themselves as was becoming members of the State Guard.

In order that each regiment might be governed by the same rules and have same hours of service and roll-calls, I issued, with your approval, General Orders, No. 12. This order was compiled in the main from those issued by Adjutant Generals of other States, and was intended as a guide, so that I could see how the provisions of it were carried out by regimental commanders.

This order met the hearty approval of all officers, except a few who saw fit to criticise Section 10 very severely, one officer going so far as to say if the men were allowed to go out of camp as provided in that section it would break up all discipline; not wishing to do this, and at same time being unwilling to subject volunteer soldiers to more severe discipline than is enforced in the United States Army, I addressed the following letter to the acting Adjutant General of the United States Army:

NORTH CAROLINA,
Adjutant General's Department,
GREENSBORO, July 14th, 1890.

GENERAL CHAUNCEY MCKEEVER,
Acting Adjutant General United States Army:

DEAR SIR — Will you be so kind as to answer this question for me: In camp, in time of peace. where the men are assembled simply for instructions, is it usual to require men, when off duty, between reveille and tattoo, to obtain permission when they go out of camp? See Section 10 of General Orders No. 12. Your prompt answer to this will greatly oblige.

Yours truly,
JAMES D. GLENN,
Adjutant General North Carolina.

I received the following in reply:

WAR DEPARTMENT,
Adjutant General's Office.
WASHINGTON, July 15th, 1890.

GENERAL JAMES D. GLENN,
Adjutant General of North Carolina,
Greensboro, N. C.:

SIR — In reply to your letter of the 14th instant, in which you invite attention to Paragraph 10 of General Orders, No. 12, from your office, and ask whether it is usual to require men, when off duty, between reveille and tattoo, to obtain permission to leave camp, I beg to say that men are, as a rule, permitted to leave camp when off duty, but are required to be present at all stated calls.

Paragraph 10 of your order fully meets all requirements and accords with the custom of the service in such cases.

Very truly yours,
C. McKEEVER,
Acting Adjutant General.

Showing that even "considering the license, which under orders the men had a right to avail themselves of," they did not have as much liberty as the hired soldiers of the Government.

DISCIPLINE.

I must say (other officers to the contrary notwithstanding) that I think the discipline of the State Guard all that could be desired or expected under the circumstances. Composed of young men the very flower of the State, bold and chivalrous by nature, unused to restraint, courteous to all but expecting the same courtesy in return, knowing nothing of military regulations before entering the service of the State, a member of the Guard attends his first encampment, and for the first time since boyhood finds he is not his own master, that his will and pleasure must give way to the will and pleasure of others; and yet I am glad to say I have seen few instances in which a ready and cheerful obedience was not rendered, and further, when there was a breach of discipline and punishment was inflicted, it was borne with the proper spirit and the acknowledgement that it was merited.

I have seen the members of our State Guard thrown with those of other States, in places far from home, and when the temptations were extraordinary, such as at Yorktown in 1881, Washington City in 1885–'87, New York in 1889 and Richmond in 1890; and though these trips were taken purely for pleasure the men yielded the utmost obedience to their superiors, and in no instance was any act committed that could bring reproach upon the men or the State. What the discipline of other States may be at their annual encampments I am not prepared to say, but when I have met the soldiers of other States on public occasions I must say I have seen none under such control as those of our own.

REVIEWS.

Both camps were inspected and reviewed by your Excellency, and I am sure you had every reason to be proud of the appearance and bearing of the officers and men on both occasions. While I think comparisons are odious, and certainly in their drills, dress parades and guard-mounts the regiments were very nearly equal, yet I must say that never before since my long connection with the Guard have I seen a regiment march out of camp with the splendid order, appearance and numbers as did the Second Regiment on the morning of the 12th of August. Out of a total of two hundred and fifty-eight men on first day the morning report of the last day showed two hundred and forty-two; the smallest in numbers it had by far the largest number of men in camp. While every credit must be given this regiment for the splendid showing made at encampment, it must be remembered that the other regiments, in response to an appeal from your Excellency, sent eighteen companies (including Company C, Second Regiment) to represent the State at the unveiling of the Lee Monument in Richmond only a short time before, and as these men had borne all their own expenses, including transportation, it was impossible for many of them to bear the expenses of both trips. As long as the State does not appropriate a sum sufficient to meet all the expenses of encampments, I will not recommend that a company be disbanded for non-attendance, but I most respectfully recommend that hereafter attendance at the annual encampment be made a pre-requisite to a company's receiving the annual appropriation. I also respectfully recommend that no one be allowed to attend who cannot remain the full time, and that company commanders be held responsible if they knowingly permit this, and that leave to return home be only granted in case of urgent necessity.

FUTURE ENCAMPMENTS.

After seeing the good results accomplished this year I most respectfully renew my former recommendations regarding regimental encampments. As the companies are isolated, being located in different towns in all parts of the State, it is impossible to assemble them into regiments, except at annual encampments, and the time being short, it is important that Regimental Commanders be given every facility for training and instructing their men; this they cannot do at brigade encampments, as so much valuable time is lost in useless ceremonies, and besides not being responsible for the conduct of the camp they do not give the time and attention they otherwise would. Your Excellency having invited the First Regiment Virginia Volunteers to hold their encampment for 1891 in this State, at same time and place as our regiments, I respectfully recommend that all the regiments of the State Guard be ordered in camp at one time, but that each Colonel be entirely responsible for the conduct of his own camp, and that the officers of the General Staff be ordered upon special duty, as was done in 1890. By having only two regiments in camp at one time it is impossible to fairly compare those absent with those present, and one is too apt to think "the last the best;" while if all are together, though each entirely to itself, a supervising officer can readily compare them with equal justice, and then I believe it will stimulate a generous rivalry that will be beneficial to all. I am sure the trouble experienced by the Sea-Coast Railroad in 1888 in transporting the men will be obviated, as their facilities for doing so are very much increased.

WORLD'S COLUMBIAN EXPOSITION.

It is the desire of the Committee on Ceremonies of the World's Columbian Commission to have a grand encampment of the United States Army and National Guard at Chicago, in October, 1892, a programme has been arranged, and the camp is to be under the command of a Major General of the United States Army.

An encampment of this kind in conjunction with the troops of all other States would be of invaluable service to the officers and men of our State Guard, and at same time afford them an opportunity of seeing a part of our great country that they might otherwise not have, and though the time is almost two years hence, it will be well to begin to take steps in the matter if we wish to have our State well represented on that occasion. I have reason to hope that some money may be appropriated by the Commission to enable the troops to bear their expenses. I am assured the men can be fed as cheaply there as in any other part of the country, and if the appropriation allowed for annual encampments can be in any way supplemented, I respectfully recommend that the encampment of the North Carolina State Guard for the year 1892 be held at the World's Columbian Exposition, in the city of Chicago.

COLORED ENCAMPMNET.

The Charlotte Light Infantry (un-attached) was ordered in camp at Raleigh, N. C., on October 20th, for a period of five days. Colonel Olds, our very efficient Quartermaster General, procured the old military barracks for their quarters, and everything was done for their comfort. I visited the command one day and found everything in good order. The drill and discipline were good, and as every member of the company attended the encampment it speaks well for their efficiency. There was no disorder or breach of discipline whatever, and both officers and men, by their good conduct and soldierly bearing justly won the esteem of the good citizens of our capital city.

RIFLE PRACTICE.

I have been very anxious to see a marked improvement among the men as to rifle practice, and have done all in my power to that end, and while I cannot say any great improvement has so far been made, yet all plans and arrangements are so perfected I am sure there will be.

With your permission I wrote to the War Department and asked for the detail of that distinguished soldier Col. S. E. Blunt, of the United States Army, who has more than a national reputation as the author of Rifle Firings, the standard authority in the United States Army, to be detailed to attend our encampments and give our troops practical instructions in rifle practice. The Secretary of War having ordered the detail, Colonel Blunt very kindly drew General Orders, No. 10, C. S., which in itself contained all necessary details for the men to be instructed in before reaching camp. He also wrote to Colonel Olds, giving full instructions as to range, targets, etc. Colonel Olds had range prepared, and ordered targets, but by no fault of his they were not received till after the first encampment, and as Colonel Blunt was called home before the second encampment he could not instruct the troops as desired, though he gave a very entertaining and instructive lecture to the officers of the First and Third Regiments.

Your Excellency has made a most fortunate selection in appointing Colonel B. Cameron to be Inspector General of Small-Arms Practice, as he is well informed as to his duties, having received particular instructions from Colonel Blunt, besides being a graduate of the Virginia Military Institute (the best military school in the South), and having long been an officer of the Guard, he is well and favorably known by both officers and men. I feel confident, under his direction, the standard of marksmanship will be raised very high indeed, and more interest manifested than has ever been known before.

SEA-COAST BATTERY.

The United States Government having erected a battery consisting of two heavy guns and four mortars, on the ground donated for a permanent encampment, I wrote to the Secretary of War asking for a detail of United States soldiers to handle the guns and give practical instructions to our troops. A detail consisting of nine enlisted men, under command of Sergeant J. Helcher, was sent from Fort Monroe, and arrived a day before first encampment and remained till after the second. As the powder, shells, etc., for the use of the battery did not arrive in time for the first encampment, the troops of the First and Third Regiments could not receive the same practical instructions that were given at the second encampment, but both regiments were marched to battery and the men shown the use of the guns.

AID TO CIVIL POWER.

The great value of the military as an aid to the civil authorities was again illustrated last February at Rocky Mount, a very flourishing town on the Wilmington and Weldon Railroad. There was a determined effort to burn the whole town, and I have been reliably informed by citizens of the place that had it not been for the military company located there, the incendiaries would have accomplished their purpose. Captain Thorpe (who is the youngest Captain in point of age in the State) and his company deserve great credit for the manner in which they acted, for, by their zeal and vigilance, bloodshed was prevented, and property, to the value of thousands of dollars, saved to the citizens of the State.

ANNUAL APPROPRIATION.

Every company in the State Guard that complies with all the requirements of the laws and regulations governing the active militia is entitled to receive the sum of $250 per annum to pay armory rents, etc., provided the number of companies receiving the appropriation does not exceed thirty.

General Orders, No. 38, series of 1888, issued by my predecessor and which is still in force, provides that to entitle a company to receive the annual appropriation it must parade seventy-five per cent. of its muster-roll at the annual inspection of the Inspector General, and seventy-five per cent. of the minimum number allowed a company (that is, twenty-four men) at its monthly parades. There are thirty-one companies in the Guard, all of which were recommended for the annual appropriation by the Inspector General, except Company F, Fourth Regiment. This company, having also failed to parade twenty-four men during the month of September, was debarred the annual appropriation for the year, and the amount was paid to Company F, Third Regiment, that had complied with all requirements.

At time of September parade Company F, Fourth Regiment, had only thirty-three men on its muster-roll, but still having failed in both particulars to observe the requirements of General Orders, No. 3, the appropriation could not lawfully be paid to that company.

As it cannot be fair to require a company with a small muster-roll to parade as many men once a month as a company with a muster-roll twice as large, I respectfully recommend that hereafter, to entitle a company to receive the annual appropriation, that besides having to parade seventy-five per cent. of its muster-roll at the annual inspection, it must also parade sixty per cent. of its muster-roll at the monthly parades and at the annual encampment. I am sure this will do equal justice to all, and insure a much better attendance at annual encampments.

STATE GUARD ASSOCIATION.

I hope at our next encampment that the officers of the State Guard will form an association, to be a part of the National Guard Association of the United States. Many of the States have associations, and they have been of incalculable benefit in many ways; not only by bringing the needs of the service to commanding officers, but the officers are thrown into closer relationship with each other, there is a full and free discussion of all matters affecting the service, and a concert of action attained that cannot be without organization. There should be an executive committee composed of live, active men, whose duty it should be to bring all matters of importance before the Association, and make such recommendations as they may think proper.

CONCLUSION.

Before concluding this report I must express to you, our Commander-in-Chief, my sincere appreciation of the kindness and consideration received at your hands

My thanks are also due to the officers of the Guard for the kindness and courtesy shown me on all occasions. My intercourse with them has been of the most pleasant nature, and with few exceptions I have received their most hearty co-operation and support in my efforts to advance the interests of the service and promote the efficiency of our organization.

To the officers of my personal staff I am under many obligations for their kind attention and for valuable assistance rendered, and I must again thank your most efficient Private Secretary for the many courtesies extended me by him.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE INSPECTOR GENERAL.

State of North Carolina,
Inspector General's Department,
Raleigh, December 8th, 1890.

General James D. Glenn,
Adjutant General of North Carolina:

Sir—I have the honor to submit herewith the official report of this department for the year 1890, together with copies of all special orders received relative thereto.

Orders from General Headquarters, directing the annual inspection of the State Guard, were issued March 27th, and due notice having been given to the troops, the work of inspection began April 9th with Company G, Second Regiment, and concluded November 24th with Company E, Fourth Regiment.

The official Roster of the State Guard at the beginning of the present year showed a list of thirty (30) companies, who were respectively lettered and assigned as follows, viz:

First Regiment, Companies A, B, C, D, E, F, G.
Second Regiment, Companies A, B, C, D, E, F.
Third Regiment, Companies A, B, C, D, E, F, I.
Fourth Regiment, Companies A, B, C, D, E, F, G, K.
One (1) Company of Cavalry, unattached.
One (1) Company of Infantry (colored) unattached.

In addition to the above, during present year two (2) companies of Infantry (the Wilson Light Infantry and Burlington Light Infantry) were accepted, equipped and assigned, respectively, to the Second and Third Regiments as Companies G and F, and one (1) company of the Second Regiment (the Fayetteville Independent Light Infantry) was permitted to resume its former position as an independent company, and accordingly dropped from the rolls.

At the annual inspections all of the companies, with varying degrees of excellence and proficiency, were found to come within the requirements prescribed by law and regulations, with the exception of Companies B and F of the Fourth Regiment, whose condition was described in special and circumstantial reports made at the time.

As full and complete reports of each inspection were made to General Headquarters and are now matters of official record, further reference to them is deemed unnecessary.

The companies, when paraded for inspection, mustered as follows, viz:

Showing an increase of one in number of companies and a decrease from the number reported last year of 118 men. These figures were taken from the rolls at the time of inspection, and may vary somewhat from the total numbers shown by last monthly returns, accordingly as the respective regiments have lost or gained by discharges and recruits.

The average strength of companies, as shown this year, is about 41½ men, the average last year was nearly 45½. The increase in percentage reporting for duty at inspection, however, was about five per cent., being about eighty-eight per cent. this year, while last year it was eighty-three.

Regimental, field and staff officers were present at the inspection of companies under their command, during present year, as follows:

Wherever failure to comply with the requirements of paragraphs No. 200 and 210 of Regulations occurred, special report was made in accordance with terms of G. O., No. 5, C. S.

At the inspection of the troops by the officers of this department, it was shown that the Colonel of the Third Regiment was the only Regimental Commander who, during the present year, had complied with the important requirements of paragraph 201 of the Regulations.

Owing to the increased facilities realized by the enlargement of the annual appropriation by the general government, the troops are better and more uniformly equipped now than ever before, the entire force being now supplied with the State Regulation uniform. While the clothing itself, as now furnished under the new contracts, is not only cheaper, but of far better material, better made and more satisfactory in every respect.

The armament of some of the companies is still defective, owing to the unserviceable condition of many of their guns, and the camp equipment of several is as yet incomplete, but in regard to these matters I can add nothing to the special reports previously made.

In matters of drill, discipline and general efficiency, no change worthy of mention has been noted.

In accordance with the recommendations embodied in the Adjutant General's report last year, the Commander-in-Chief decided to dispense with the brigade formation this summer and encamp the troops by regiments, and the former camping grounds at Wrightsville Sound having again been kindly placed at the State's disposal, the First and Third Regiments were ordered to report at that point on the evening of July 22d for duty in camp of instruction, agreeably to the terms of G. O., No. 8, C. S.

On the evening of the 20th July I reported at Camp Latimer for duty, and on the following day, assisted by Captain Benehan Cameron of my Staff, made a careful inspection of the camp preparatory to the arrival of the troops—the results of this inspection being embodied in a special report made to headquarters.

On the afternoon of the 22d the First and Third Regiments, respectively commanded by Colonels Cotten and Gray, reported for duty—the First Regiment minus its Adjutant and Band, also companies C and E; the Third Regiment minus Company B. Company E, Fourth Regiment, was in camp by special permission, temporarily attached to the First Regiment. The aggregate strength of the two regiments present for duty was about 408, officers and men.

Work was commenced immediately upon the arrival of the troops. Guard and sentry duty were regularly performed, both day and night, and the troops exercised in battalion drill daily, both officers and men showing considerable improvement. The camp was regularly inspected every morning and found to be clean and well policed.

On the morning of the 26th July the camp was visited by his Excellency the Governor, who was received with customary honors, followed by a review of the troops, who looked and marched well, alignments being good, distances well preserved, and salutes properly rendered.

On Sunday, July 27th, assisted by Captain B. Cameron, Assistant Inspector General, I inspected both regiments. Movements were promptly and properly executed, and clothing, arms and accoutrements found to be clean and serviceable.

It was fully intended that rifle target practice and battery drill should form part of each day's exercise, and for that purpose the Honorable Secretary of War detailed Captain Stanhope E. Blunt, a distinguished officer of the Ordnance Department, and recognized as high authority in all matters pertaining to rifle practice, for the purpose of giving the troops necessary instruction; while a detachment of artillerists, under command of an experienced non-commissioned officer, was sent from Fortress Monroe for the purpose of aiding and instructing the troops in heavy gun drill. Owing to some accident or delay, however, the targets for rifle practice failed to arrive before the time allowed Captain Blunt had expired, so that the Guard were deprived of the excellent opportunity which had been presented. Before leaving, however, Captain Blunt kindly delivered a very entertaining and instructive lecture on the subject of rifle practice, which was highly appreciated by all.

There was no reason, however, that I am aware of, why the programme relating to the battery drill was not carried out. The instructors, troops, guns, all were present, and why they were not fully utilized I was never able to ascertain, and can form no reasonable conjecture.

Contrary to terms of Section 12, General Orders, No. 8, C. S., a number of men and several companies of the First and Third Regiments left camp and returned home before the close of the encampment. This should not have been permitted, and in future, individuals and companies who cannot remain and perform their full tour of duty should not be allowed to come to camp.

On the 29th July the First and Third Regiments, having completed their tour of duty, broke camp and returned home, and were succeeded by the Second and Fourth Regiments, commanded respectively by Colonel Jones and Major Young, who marched in on the evening of the 5th of August with a combined force of about 490, officers and men, including troop of cavalry (Scotland Neck Mounted Riflemen), who were dismounted and temporarily attached to the Second Regiment.

The routine of duties followed by their predecessors was promptly taken up by these regiments, with the addition, however, of considerable and useful rifle practice (which the arrival of the targets now permitted), and a fair amount of heavy gun drill, in both of which necessary and useful branches of instruction, officers and men alike evinced much interest and displayed considerable progress.

On the 8th of August the Governor and Commander-in-Chief again visited and inspected the camp and reviewed the troops. In the latter ceremony the "march past" was in very good shape, especially so in the Second Regiment, where distances were well preserved, alignments good, and salutes promptly and properly rendered. In the Fourth Regiment the companies, as a rule, were not so steady, and the officers of companies C and F failed to salute properly.

On Sunday, the 9th, assisted by Captain A. L. Smith, Assistant Inspector General, I inspected both regiments, finding everything in very fair and satisfactory condition, with exception of the arms and accoutrements of company B, Second Regiment, which, although clean and well kept, were found to be old, worn out, and mainly unserviceable. Company C, Fourth Regiment, was also in bad shape—uniforms being old and badly worn, while the full-dress of the officers was incomplete, "straps" being worn instead of the "shoulder knot."

The commanding officers of the Second and Fourth Regiments deserve much credit for the manner in which they kept their men in hand. They permitted no companies to leave before the expiration of their tour of duty, and at its close, on the 12th of August, broke camp and marched out in good order and with full ranks.

The results of the encampment this year were much more satisfactory than the last. There were fewer men present, it is true, and while even better results could doubtless have been accomplished, by a stricter and more careful observance of the schedule of duties, hours, etc., prescribed, yet in the main it was a decided improvement.

In "guard-mounting," there were fewer errors charged against the Second Regiment than any other, but there was no improvement shown by any. Guard and sentry duty, while regularly performed, not as efficient as it might have been, owing to lack of proper instruction. The camp was cleaner, however, and better policed than ever before. And considering the license, which, under orders, the men had a right to avail themselves of, and the free and unlimited opportunities offered, the general good order and sobriety manifested, speaks most highly for the morale of the service.

The health of the camp was excellent, the hospital records showing a "sick list" of less than one per cent. of the number present.

The troops, as usual, were furnished transportation, quarters, fuel, lights, ice and medical attention, but as the State furnishes no rations, subsisted themselves at an average cost of about thirty-five cents per diem.

No accident of any description was reported, either while in camp or en route, which speaks well for the careful supervision exercised.

The standard of discipline in the Guard, I regret to say, is far from what it should be, and shows no improvement. The remedy is apparent and needs no suggestion, only application.

The great trouble in the Guard arises from the inattention and indifference shown by company officers to the regulations governing the service, and this trouble will always exist as long as the present system of electing these officers annually continues. There being but little inducement for them to study and improve themselves, when they know that in all probability, and ofttimes for no cause whatever (except that somebody else wants the place), at end of year the enlisted among the company will elect others in their stead. The only remedy that suggests itself for this evil is to allow companies to select and elect their officers when first organized. Then, after twelve months' service, require the officers to be examined by a "Board," consisting of the regimental commander and an officer of the general staff, and if found competent to be continued in office by the State for two years longer; if, however, found incompetent to be immediately dropped, and the company ordered to elect their successors. A plan of this kind, while amply securing to companies the right of electing their own officers, would prevent the wholesale dropping of officers at a time when some of them are just beginning to be useful; would give the officers more respect for themselves and their position in the service; and as their standing and retention in the service would depend entirely upon themselves, would make study imperative; at same time it would tend to make the companies themselves more careful in their selections.

* * * * * * *

The result of my observations and experience during the past year has satisfied me that the adoption of some of the suggestions embodied in former reports is still highly desirable. As they are matters of official record, however, their repetition is unnecessary.

The duties devolving upon the officers of this department during past year have been carefully and faithfully performed, and to the officers who were on duty with me at Camp Latimer, Captains A. L. Smith and Benehan Cameron, A. I. G., my thanks are due for their always prompt, ready and efficient aid and co-operation.

As regards equipment, armament, condition for service, etc., the status of the State Guard is substantially the same that it was twelve months ago.

As time goes on it becomes more and more apparent that the maintenance of a well armed and equipped State Guard is an absolute necessity in every State, and it is to be hoped that North Carolina will never cease to foster with just pride and affection her State Guard, whose record has ever been one of honor and usefulness.

Yours very respectfully,

F. H. CAMERON,

Inspector General.

SPECIAL REPORT OF INSPECTOR GENERAL ON CONDITION OF CAMP.

INSPECTOR GENERAL'S DEPARTMENT,
CAMP LATIMER, 5 P. M., July 22d, 1890.

GENERAL JAMES D. GLENN,
Adjutant General North Carolina:

SIR—I have the honor to report that, in compliance with instructions contained in Section XVI, General Orders, No. 8, C. S., I have this day inspected the camps of the First and Third Regiments, with the following results:

The camp of the First Regiment is in excellent condition—the company streets being clean, tents well pitched, and grounds clean and in good order. Captain Riddle, Regimental Quartermaster, with the details from his regiment, by most attentive and intelligent work, has succeeded in getting his camp in excellent and satisfactory shape.

In the camp of the Third Regiment matters are not so satisfactory. Captain Gilmer, the Regimental Quartermaster, an active and energetic young officer, did all that was in his power, but was badly handicapped for want of proper and sufficient force, for instead of sixteen men (the quota which his regiment should have furnished, in accordance with Section XV, General Orders, No. 8), he had only six men, two (2) of whom did not report until to-day, a force entirely inadequate for the work in charge. By hard and persistent effort, however, he has succeeded in getting all of his tents up, and the company grounds are fairly policed, but not nearly so well as they should be, or would have been, had the officer in question been properly supported. The want of attention paid to General Orders, No. 8, in relation to this matter, should be looked into, and censure applied where it properly belongs.

The general hospital is roomy, clean, and well arranged and ventilated, with proper appliances, medicines, etc. The sinks I cannot approve of, and would respectfully suggest that the recommendations of the Surgeon General on the subject be adopted and acted upon without delay.

Complete arrangements appear to have been made by Colonel Olds, Quartermaster General, for full supply of good water for drinking and cooking purposes; while a large and commodious bath-house has been erected, affording excellent and safe bathing facilities.

Ample supplies of straw, fuel, lights, ice, etc., for the use of the troops, has been provided, and in all reasonable respects, the interests of the State, and comfort and welfare of the troops, appear to have received due and proper consideration.

Yours very respectfully,

F. H. CAMERON,

Inspector General.

P. S.—The building which I am informed is to be used as a general guard-house, is filled with straw, and unfit for that purpose in its present condition.

SPECIAL REPORT OF INSPECTOR GENERAL IN REGARD TO COMPANY F, FOURTH REGIMENT.

State of North Carolina,
Inspector General's Department,
Raleigh, October 14th, 1890.

General James D. Glenn,
Adjutant General of North Carolina,
Greensboro, N. C.:

Sir — Enclosed I have the honor to transmit official reports of annual inspection of Companies A and C, Fourth Regiment, N. C. S. G.

I have also to report that on the morning of the 3d instant orders were issued and mailed, directing Company F, Fourth Regiment, to parade for annual inspection, "in accordance with the terms of General Orders, No. 69, O. S., and Section 2, General Orders, No. 3, series of 1888," on the 6th instant at 8:30 o'clock p. m.

I was in Asheville the whole of Monday, the 6th, but saw nothing of the company or its officers. Early on Tuesday morning the Captain called and stated that he had been absent for several days, but had returned the evening before. Finding upon inquiry that all of his company resided in town, I stated to him that I would give them another chance, and to parade the company for inspection at 8:30 o'clock same evening at armory, which would give them ample time. At time appointed he wrote me a note informing me that he was unable to muster a sufficient number for inspection. As I had already given the command due notice, and an additional chance, with ample time, I did not consider that I was called upon to waste any more time upon a command evidently so illy prepared, or unwilling, to meet the reasonable requirements of our military law and regulations, so proceeded without further delay to visit and inspect other posts.

Under circumstances such as above stated, comment or suggestion are needless; a plain statement of facts alone being deemed necessary.

Yours very respectfully,

F. H. CAMERON,

Inspector General.

ANNUAL REPORT OF QUARTERMASTER GENERAL AND CHIEF OF ORDNANCE.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
Office Quartermaster General and Chief of Ordnance,
RALEIGH, December 1, 1890.

BRIGADIER GENERAL JAMES D. GLENN,
Adjutant General State of North Carolina:

SIR — I have the honor to submit the following report for these departments, the Quartermaster's and Ordnance, for the fiscal year just ended.

ISSUES OF CLOTHING.

The heaviest work of the year was the issue of clothing. In 1888 dress uniforms were issued to four companies; in 1889 to fifteen companies, and during the past year to six companies. The other six companies (there being thirty-one in all) were already in possession of the regulation dress in condition for use another year. Dress uniforms were also issued the bands of the Third and Fourth Regiments.

It was decided to issue blouses to all the force. Accordingly fine quality flannel was requisitioned for and issued to officers, while blouses, made up, were sent direct to the troops from the Philadelphia depot of the Quartermaster's Department. There were issued of these neat, well-made and very serviceable blouses for enlisted men, 1,254.

A marked reduction in the price of making uniforms for both officers and enlisted men was secured. The Pettibone Manufacturing Company, of Cincinnati, Ohio, agreed to make up the clothing at the following rates: Officers' dress coats, $5; trousers, $1, blouses, $2.25; enlisted men's dress coats, $2.40; trousers, $1. The same firm also agreed to make up overcoats for officers at $10 each. Material for the manufacture of fifty-eight of the latter was placed in the hands of the firm.

The quality of the work done on the clothing made up was admirable and gave great satisfaction.

THE ISSUE OF BLOUSES.

The following circular was issued:

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
Quartermaster General's Department,
RALEIGH, March 5, 1890.

CIRCULAR No. 7.

You are hereby informed that the State of North Carolina will issue the entire State Guard blouses, made up, of the quality and pattern worn by the regular army. Requisitions for these should at once be made upon blank No. 3, enclosed. You are directed to have every enlisted man in your command measured therefor, and fill in the blank with the sizes needed, returning it at once to this department. To each Company chevrons will be issued as follows: One First Sergeant's, four Sergeants' and four Corporals'. Blouses are made up in six sizes. In length they should reach one-third the distance from the hip-joint to the bend of the knee. The measurements upon which these sizes are based are as follows:

Sizes.	Length of Blouse.	Length of Sleeve.	Width at Hand.	Size of Neck.	Width of Collar.	Width of Back.	Size of Arm-hole.	Size of Breast.	Size of Waist.
	INCHES.
1	27	31	12	16	3	7	16	34	32
2	27½	31½	12	16½	3	7½	17	35	33
3	28	32½	12	17	3	7¾	18	36	34
4	29	33	12	18	3½	8	19	38	36
5	30¼	34	12½	19	3½	8	20	40	38
6	30½	34½	13	19½	3½	8¼	21	42	40

Measure each man: set down his "size" opposite his name on a roll for your own use, and send to this department the sizes necessary, so grouped as to show the total number of each size needed, as so many No. 1, No. 2, etc.

For officers' blouses flannel of the quality worn by officers of the regular army will be issued, the allowance being 1⅞ yards for each officer, the cost of making up to be borne by the officer.

This clothing is Government property, and is to be strictly cared for as such. It must, at all times, when not in service, be kept in the armories, in chests or closets, with proper protection against moths.

FRED. A. OLDS,
Quartermaster-General.

The following was at the same time sent all the companies:

PLANS FOR 1891.

It was found impossible during the past year to issue blankets, and also to furnish overcoats to several companies, as the quota ($10,334, allowed annually by the United States Government) was exhausted. During the present twelve-month all the Guard will be provided with blankets, while leggings and white, or summer, helmets will also be issued to the entire force. Cleaning materials and tools for reloading ammunition will also be issued to each company. Dress uniforms will be issued to a few companies, and blouses to one company, thus making the equipment by the Government complete. All trousers for enlisted men will, in future, be issued made up. This will thus reduce the cost of full dress and fatigue uniform to only $2.40 for each enlisted man, that being the contract price for the make-up of the dress coat, as above stated.

ORDNANCE DEPARTMENT.

During the year there was furnished by the United States Ordnance Department complete equipments for the battery of two ten-inch Rodman guns, and four ten-inch mortars, at the permanent camp at Wrightsville. These are all stored in the magazine there. A small supply of ammunition for the battery was also issued.

There were supplied by the Government the necessary equipments for the new rifle-range at the permanent camp. A large supply of ammunition for rifle practice at this range, and also for the usual issue to the troops, was also furnished.

The new companies at Wilson (F, Second Regiment) and at Burlington (F, Third Regiment), as well as the bands of the Third and Fourth Regiments, were provided with field equipments. The entire force is now completely equipped in this particular.

THE PERMANENT ENCAMPMENT.

By direction of His Excellency Governor Fowle, I went to Wrightsville July 7, to prepare the rifle-range at the permanent camp, superintend other work there, and also to prepare Camp Latimer for the reception of the troops.

The citizens of Wilmington having presented the encampment grounds to the State Guard through the Governor, and placed in bank at Wilmington $2,500 as a fund for the improvement of the property; upon the Quartermaster

General and Chief of Ordnance devolved the duty of planning and carrying out these improvements. The rifle-range was built for three targets, and later was arranged for four. The bullet-stop, or embankment in rear of the targets, is ninety feet in length and twelve feet in height, is built of sand and is turfed. The range is up to 600 yards, and is the best in the South.

The Sound face of the grounds was cleared of undergrowth, the main parade also cleared, and a contract made for the grading. The contractor, Mr. A. P. Holland, of Goldsboro, did the work admirably and the once uneven ground is now nearly level, the gentle roll not interfering with the requirements for the proper manœuvring of troops. The contract price of the grading was five hundred dollars. A contract was made with Parsley & Wiggins, of Wilmington, for the construction of four pavilions, each 50 x 100 feet in size. These will be used as mess-halls and as places of assembly, and also for shelter, each accommodating a regiment. Contracts are also made for the planting or setting of grass on the forty acres of parade ground, and for a wire fence around all that portion of the encampment as well as the rifle-range, etc., and for two hundred mulberry trees for shade in the camp. An avenue has been cleared from the main parade to spacious and level grounds in the rear, the latter of which will be used for skirmishing and cavalry manœuvres. Other contracts have been made for bath-houses and kitchens. The camp will be in readiness for occupancy by May 1st, 1891. The cost of these improvements is in all about $3,250. The entire area of the grounds is one hundred and one acres, and the site is one of the most superb on the entire coast of North Carolina, having a front of one thousand six hundred feet on the Sound, directly in front of Wrightsville inlet, and over thirty feet above high-water mark.

The propriety and need of a special appropriation for the further improvement, as well as the preservation, of this valuable property is too plain to need more than a passing mention. The State should meet the public-spirited people of Wilmington half way in this matter. The camp is very near the railway station at Wrightsville, but it is promised that trains shall run to the grounds. The roadway for vehicles, now partially shelled, along the camp front, will be completed. A windmill and tank will also be put up in order to secure a full supply of water. The expense of the improvements, as compared with their character, will compare with those at any camp in the country.

THE ENCAMPMENTS OF 1890.

The plan of having two encampments, by means of a division of the force, which was carried into effect for the first time, proved to be good. Details from the First and Third Regiments, in charge of the respective Quartermasters, Captains C. A. Riddle and E. L. Gilmer, pitched the tents and prepared the camp for occupancy. The detail from the First Regiment was nearly complete, while that from the Third Regiment was very small, and worked, therefore, under many disadvantages. The kitchens, tent-floors and straw used in 1889 were again in use. After the end of the last encampment the kitchens were torn down and the materials, together with those of the tent-floors, were taken to the permanent encampment and stowed under sheds for future use.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The exhibits filed herewith show (A) the receipts of Quartermasters' stores during the year; (B) the issues of the same; (C), the receipts of ordnance stores, and (D) the issues of the same.

I have the honor to be, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

F. A. OLDS,

Q. M. Gen'l and C. of O.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE SURGEON GENERAL.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
Surgeon General's Department,
RALEIGH, December 1st, 1890.

GENERAL JAMES D. GLENN,
Adjutant General of North Carolina.

SIR — I have the honor to submit herewith the report of this department for the year 1890.

In compliance with General Orders, No. 8, there were, during the year 1890, two separate regimental encampments of the North Carolina State Guard at Camp Latimer, Wrightsville, N. C., the First and Third Regiments encamping together from July 22d to July 29th, inclusive; and the Second and Fourth Regiments encamping together from August 5th to August 12th inclusive.

In obedience to Section 17, General Orders, No. 8, I was present and on duty during the whole time of each encampment, and as required by Section 750, Regulations of the North Carolina State Guard, made inspections as to their sanitary condition, care of the sick, and hospital, etc. The general sanitary condition of both camps was very good.

As no provision had been made for the issue of ice, and as the sinks (two for each encampment) prepared for use were the old ones of last year re-opened, and which were fully described in my report for 1889, the following special report on these two matters, during the first encampment, fully explains itself.

CAMP LATIMER,
WRIGHTSVILLE, July 22d, 1890.

BRIGADIER GENERAL JAMES D. GLENN,
Adjutant General of North Carolina.

SIR — In my opinion, both the health and comfort of the Guard demand the daily issue of ice to the men, as during previous encampments.

Matters of sanitary detail are very important at all times, but especially so now, in view of the fact that, during hot weather, two separate encampments (a week intervening) on the same grounds are to be held this year by the State Guard. First and foremost in importance are the sinks. I most earnestly protest against the acceptance of those now prepared for use during this encampment for the following reasons: The trenches used last year have been re-opened, which, alone of itself, is liable to cause grave sickness; they are only about one foot wide and eight or ten inches deep, and consequently will be filled to overflowing in a few days with a mass of decomposing, pestilence breeding matter; they are so narrow and shallow, that, if lime and earth are thrown in them every evening, as should be done, they would be filled up in one day. They will not, therefore, answer the purpose under any circumstances. I advise that new ones be constructed after the plan, if possible, recommended in my letter to the Quartermaster General as appears in my report to you last year. If that cannot be done these present trenches should be filled up and new ones constructed on ground which has never been used for such purposes before; they should be two feet wide and eight feet deep, if possible, and of sufficient length—about thirty feet for every two hundred men. A layer of earth and lime, three to four inches deep, should be thrown in every evening over the daily accumulations, so as to prevent any smell arising from the day's deposit. A man should be detailed for this daily duty. The sinks and surrounding territory should be made as attractive and kept as cleanly as possible, so as to induce the men to use the sinks by preference to the neighboring ground; if the sinks are repulsive, as they certainly will become if these details are neglected, the men will seek the woods by preference and thereby endanger the comfort and health of not only the present camp, but especially of the one that is to follow. Sentinels should be posted near the sinks to force the men to use them, and any man caught polluting the neighboring ground should be arrested and forced to perform police duty at the sinks.

Respectfully submitted,

HUBERT HAYWOOD, M. D.,
Surgeon General of North Carolina.

The other two sinks of the previous year having been re-opened for the use of the second encampment, the above protest, in regard to the first two, holds good also as to the second. They were miserably constructed, horribly policed and, as prophesied, were very offensive and repulsive, driving the men to the woods and surrounding country, which, in turn, also became very much polluted and a constant menace to good health.

The sick were well taken care of in the hospital, which was a large, airy building, nicely and cleanly kept and well supplied with comfortable cots, necessary medicines, etc. The menial hospital duties were performed by hirelings. As the following Hospital Report will show, the general character of all the sickness was mild and every case recovered.

The efficiency of the medical service is very much impaired by the failure of a large portion of the medical men to attend the encampments. Just as certainly as there is an encampment, just so surely there will be sickness, and, therefore, work to be performed by all the medical corps—each man in his own sphere. No man should be appointed in the medical service unless he can consent to make a sacrifice of his private business and attend every encampment. No one should accept a position in the medical service for the honor alone, as a great many seem to have done, judging from their repeated absences from encampment duties. Such men should resign, as they are of no practical benefit to the Guard, but on the contrary a detriment, and let their places be filled by men who will attend. The duties of the Surgeon General are executive, and he needs the aid and co-operation of every medical man in the service—each in his own place.

Before closing this report I wish to express my thanks to Doctors A. Cheatham, A. McKinnon, W. K. Reid and R. A. Freeman for their very efficient performance of duty in attending the sick.

Respectfully submitted,

HUBERT HAYWOOD, M. D.,

Surgeon General.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE INSPECTOR GENERAL OF SMALL-ARMS PRACTICE.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
Inspector General's Department of Small-arms Practice,
RALEIGH, December 15, 1890.

GENERAL JAMES D. GLENN,
Adjutant General of North Carolina:

SIR — I have the honor to submit herewith the official report of this department for the year 1890.

In accordance with section two, General Orders, No. 10, I was commissioned on July 29th, 1890, in charge of this department, and reported to you for duty on August 5th at Wrightsville during the encampment of the Second and Fourth Regiments, the First and Third having already been in camp before I was commissioned. The Fourth Regiment was not ordered out by its Colonel for small-arms practice. The Second Regiment made the following score, hereto appended, on the rifle-range constructed by Colonel F. A. Olds on the State's permanent encampment ground at Wrightsville, which I inspected and found to be according to the form laid down in the Firing Regulations.

The following letter explains itself, and will be read with interest, viz.:

WILMINGTON, N. C., July 23d, 1890.

GENERAL JAMES D. GLENN,
Adjutant General of North Carolina State Guard,
Camp Latimer:

DEAR SIR — Permit me to place in your hands a shield made by Elkington & Co., of London, representing Milton's Paradise Lost, which, if consistent, I would like to offer as a prize to the company making the best score in the rifle practice, to take place during the encampment of 1890.

Very truly,
H. WALTERS.

This letter, together with the handsome shield, you are aware you turned over to this department under instructions, with verbal permission from Mr. H. Walters to be used as a prize at the encampment to be held in 1891, as all four regiments will then be able to compete for it, which the First and Third Regiments were not able to do this year, as the ammunition and targets did not arrive in time for them to do so this year, owing to freight delays, although ordered in ample time by Quartermaster General Colonel F. A. Olds, as his vouchers proved when inspected by me.

With your approval, and that of our Commander-in-Chief, I shall place this handsome shield in the executive office until the competitive practice in 1891, in order that it may be observed, as a splendid testimonial, in what high esteem the State Guard, as a protector of property and conservator of order, is held by one of North Carolina's most distinguished adopted sons, who thus sets an example of appreciation to other citizens to follow.

The company inspections of rifle practice it was deemed best to postpone until the "practice season" of 1891.

In conclusion, I desire to express my appreciation of the services rendered me in this new department by Captain Stanhope E. Blunt, Ordnance Department, United States Army; by my former Chief, Inspector General F. H. Cameron, and by yourself.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

BENNEHAN CAMERON,

Col. and Inspector General Small-arms Practice N. C. S. G.

Colonel Bennehan Cameron, Stagville, N. C.:

DEAR SIR — Inclosed I have the honor to hand you reports of Captain Kenan, and if it meets with your approval I would be pleased to have you issue me certificates as he suggests.

Your obedient servant,

W. C. JONES,

Colonel Commanding Second Regiment, N. C. S. G.

COLONEL W. C. JONES,
Commanding Second Regiment, N. C. S. G.,
Camp Latimer:

SIR — In obedience to your orders, I left camp this morning with a detail of five from each company and repaired to the range for the purpose of rifle practice, and I now have the pleasure of transmitting with this the record of the scores of each detail. The distance fired was two hundred yards. As it will be impossible for one regiment to comply, in every particular, with the rules laid down by Blunt, I respectfully suggest that sixty per cent. of the possible score be the requisite qualification for a marksman, and eighty per cent. for a sharpshooter, and as an encouragement to your men would it not be a graceful and fitting thing to mention those who have attained that degree on dress parade, and also request the Inspector of Small-arms Practice to issue certificates to such? Your obedient servant,

W. R. KENAN,
Captain Company C.

REPORTS OF REGIMENTAL COMMANDERS.

FIRST REGIMENT.

REPORT OF COLONEL COTTEN.

HEADQUARTERS FIRST REGIMENT, N. C. S. G.,
TARBORO, N. C., December 16, 1890.

General James D. Glenn, Greensboro, N. C.:

SIR — I herewith submit my annual report in accordance with the regulations.

While the regiment is composed of the same companies as heretofore, I regret that some of the officers, who had been in the Guard for years, have resigned, and their loss will be felt by the entire Guard, especially the First Regiment.

Captain Charles F. Warren, of Company G, Washington, a most excellent officer, who had served faithfully and well for more than ten years, felt compelled by business engagements to resign, much to the regret of the entire regiment.

Other officers, who had not served so long, but who gave promise of becoming capable and competent, and who were a credit to their companies and to the Guard, have also resigned. I regret to see this, and hope it will rapidly cease.

The condition of the seven companies composing the regiment is much improved as to equipment, all of the companies, for the first time, having the State Regulation uniform, which is a serviceable and soldierly one. They all have overcoats, and when the blankets are issued the North Carolina State Guard will be in condition to perform any duty that may be required.

There has been an increase in the membership of some of the companies, while in others there has been a decrease, the men, in a good many instances, failing to re-enlist at the expiration of their term of service; and the Guard is, to a considerable extent, composed of new men, who, I believe will make good soldiers.

Only five (5) companies of the regiment reported for duty at Camp Latimer on July 29th, Companies C and E failing to appear at all during the encampment, which I very much regret, as I consider the annual encampments as of very great value to the Guard, and think all of the companies should be required to be present for duty, as they can and do learn more of the duties of a soldier during an encampment than in all the rest of the year.

Company E, Fourth Regiment (Captain Robertson), was present with the First Regiment during the encampment, having been so ordered by the Commander-in-Chief, and I take pleasure in testifying to their efficiency and soldierly bearing. Captain Robertson and his officers being not only good soldiers but most pleasant companions.

The encampment, as ordered last July, I am satisfied was a success, everything passing off pleasantly; and I am glad to report that the discipline in camp, after the first day, was a very great improvement on any of the previous encampments, and I believe a great deal of practical instruction was imparted. I regret that the men did not have more opportunities for heavy artillery drill, as the details which were drilled showed an aptitude for learning, and I hope another year to give more time to this branch of instruction.

The North Carolina State Guard, having been invited to participate in the ceremonies at the unveiling of the Lee Monument in Richmond, Virginia, on May 29th, all of the companies of the First Regiment, except Company G, were present. Being the senior officer present from North Carolina I assumed command of the entire North Carolina State Guard present, which was larger than that of any other State, and, although we had such a splendid turn-out of the Guard, we were assigned a position in line which North Carolina troops had never before held; certainly not during the war when that "noble chieftain," in respect to whose memory we had assembled, was in command. We had the honor to bring up the rear.

The citizens of Richmond treated us with the greatest kindness and courtesy, doing everything in their power to make our stay comfortable and pleasant, and it is the unanimous opinion of the Guard that we were royally treated, and we thank them and assure them of our appreciation of their kindness.

I accompanied Brigadier General W. H. Anthony on a visit of inspection to Companies A and D of the regiment, and the General was much gratified at the discipline and efficiency of the companies, and also with their equipment and armories. I regret that sickness and pressure of private business prevented his inspecting all of the companies of the regiment.

Very respectfully,

JOHN W. COTTEN,
Colonel Commanding.

SECOND REGIMENT.

REPORT OF COLONEL JONES.

HEADQUARTERS SECOND REGIMENT, N. C. S. G.,
WILMINGTON, N. C., December 1, 1890.

General James D. Glenn, Greensboro, N. C.:

DEAR SIR — As required by the State Code, I have the honor to submit my annual report.

I have not had the pleasure of visiting the companies of my command this year as pressure of business prevented my doing so, and under General Orders, No. .., we are now relieved of that duty.

Report has been already made of the splendid duty performed by Company D, Rocky Mount, in February last, when their town was in so much danger from the incendiary, and doubtless thousands of dollars worth of property were saved by the prompt and efficient work done by the command under Captain Thorpe.

It affords me much pleasure to state that, on a hotly contested field at Charlotte on the 20th of last May, the Wilmington Light Infantry came off victorious and brought with it the first prize offered for the best drilled company by the good citizens of that progressive city.

And again, the companies of the second, as did its commander, justly felt proud of this fine organization in Richmond on the parade of the 29th of May, when they represented their regiment so well, and by their gentlemanly conduct and soldierly bearing caused praises without number to be showered upon them.

On this memorable occasion, when the equestrian statue of General Robert E. Lee was unveiled in commemoration of one of the greatest men the world ever produced, and under whose courteous and chivalric leadership so many gallant North Carolinians laid down their lives in defence of the country they loved so well, I had the honor of commanding eight companies from the Old North State—six from the First Regiment, Companies A, B, C, D, E and G; one Company (C) from the Second, and the Fayetteville Company; and I shall always remember, with feelings of pride and pleasure, the handsome and soldierly appearance presented by the North Carolina troops.

On July 4th the Wilmington Sea-coast Railroad Company offered a prize of one hundred dollars to the best rifle team of five civilians or soldiers. Seven teams entered, and that of Company B, Lumber Bridge, of the Second, under the command of Lieutenant Shaw, won the prize.

In compliance with General Orders, No. 12, I reported for duty at Camp Latimer on the morning of the 5th of August. By ten o'clock that night the six companies composing my command and the Scotland Neck troops were in quarters, my sentinels posted, and the routine duties of the camp commenced. Six companies of the Fourth Regiment, Major Young commanding, reported for duty on the evening of the 5th.

For many reasons I think the encampments by regiments should be continued. There was less drinking, less crowding at railroad stations and other places, and less noise than in any camp I have attended, and my men were more attentive to their duties than ever before. I regard the encampment of last summer as the most beneficial one to my command that it has ever attended.

It is certainly a great addition to have the battery and rifle-range, and these branches of the service should be encouraged by the officers of the Guard. My men took great interest and pleasure in both. I think it would be well for each regiment to have a Gatling gun.

On the morning of the 12th, just after the king which governs the day so regally had arisen and, as it were, shaken the waters of old ocean from his face, the signal for the companies to "fall in" was given; and ere many minutes, marching by the sweet strains of the band, which were wafted across the waters by the cool breeze from the north-west, the regiment was en route to the station with a loss of only fifteen men from its first entrance into camp, and with every man stepping with elasticity under the influence of the morning air, martial music, and doubtless with the thought that he had performed well the duty assigned him, surely no regiment ever left camp in finer trim.

I do not think that the State Guard will ever attain the efficiency it should until the men have all their expenses paid, are allowed a per diem as they are in other States, and are required to remain in camp until the close.

Any man who leaves camp, unless absolutely compelled to, reflects discredit not only upon himself but upon his company and his regiment, and taxes the State unnecessarily by having it to pay his travelling expenses to and from the encampment without his remaining sufficiently long to be benefitted.

I beg to say that all my companies have complied with general orders and sent in their monthly reports of inspection, save for the month of August; and I took the liberty of relieving some of them from that duty, as they were in camp during that month and were carefully inspected by our efficient Inspector, Colonel F. H. Cameron, so I trust that there will be no trouble about their receiving the annual appropriation now due.

I believe that the regiment is, as much as possible, devoting itself to the acquirement of efficiency in all that pertains to the practical duties of a soldier.

Company F, Wilson, is quite an addition to my command, and its good discipline and efficiency were easily noticeable.

Very truly, your obedient servant,

W. C. JONES,

Colonel Second Regiment, N. C. S. G.

THIRD REGIMENT.

REPORT OF COLONEL GRAY.

HEADQUARTERS THIRD REGIMENT, N. C. S. G.,
WINSTON, N. C.

GENERAL JAMES D. GLENN,
Adjutant General of North Carolina:

SIR — In conformity with sections 201 and 202 State Guard Regulalions, I have the honor to respectfully submit my annual report.

During the year I visited all of the companies of my command at their homes, and found them in good condition as to efficiency and discipline. Some of the guns, however, I found practically useless, and I would respectfully recommend that these be replaced with more serviceable ones.

There has been no change in the position of the companies of my command. Company F, organized at Burlington, has been attached to my command, thus giving the Third Regiment eight companies.

During the year there has been no official report of any especial service rendered by my command, but I know personally of several instances in which companies have rendered valuable services during fires where the companies have guarded and protected property. This action on the part of the companies was, I hope, fully appreciated by the citizens.

On July 23d, my command was assembled at Wrightsville, all companies being represented. I regretted very much that it was necessary for many of the men to return home before the breaking of camp, and sincerely hope that, should we have another encampment, every man can so arrange his affairs at home that he may be able to remain in camp the full time. Am glad to say that all, as a rule, conducted themselves in a gentlemanly manner, and carried out all orders in a soldierly way.

I believe that much more practical work can be done and greater proficiency attained by having regimental encampments than by camping by brigade, and I, therefore, respectfully recommend the continuance of the regimental encampments.

I respectfully recommend that an annual appropriation be made to the regimental bands. They do a great deal of service during the encampments and are entitled, I think, to more encouragement.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

W. T. GRAY,
Colonel Commanding Third Regiment N. C. S. G.

FOURTH REGIMENT.

REPORT OF MAJOR YOUNG.

HEADQUARTERS FOURTH REGIMENT, N. C. S. G.,
CHARLOTTE, N. C., November 30, 1890.

GENERAL JAMES D. GLENN,
Adjutant General of North Carolina:

SIR — In conformity with sections 201 and 202 I have the honor to submit my annual report.

On July 24th, 1890, I was placed in command of the Fourth Regiment, North Carolina State Guard, by order of Lieutenant-Colonel James G. Martin. Immediately after assuming command of the regiment, marching orders were received, ordering me to report at Wrightsville, North Carolina, with my command on August 5th, for regimental encampment. In compliance with these orders, I reported for duty with the following companies of my command, A, B, C, D, F, G and K, and regimental band. Company E, by orders of the Commander-in-Chief, were ordered to attach themselves to the First Regiment, N. C. S. G., and participated in the July encampment.

It was gratifying to see that all my companies came with full ranks, and the encampment was the best I have ever attended; the officers and privates all seemed to vie with each other to maintain the high standing of the Fourth Regiment, cheerfully and eagerly obeyed commands and executed them with soldierly bearing. Sentinels were placed on duty soon after arriving at camp, and this duty was rigidly performed until the breaking of camp. Regimental drills were strictly carried out morning and afternoon, and it is a great pleasure to state that the Fourth Regiment had not forgotten the instructions received from their late Colonel, J. T. Anthony.

Deportment of the men throughout the entire encampment was excellent, and discipline of companies under their company officers was excellent. Too much stress cannot be laid on this all-important question of discipline, and when enforced by company commanders, you will find them gentlemen and soldiers.

Our target practice, on which so much stress was laid before the encampment, was a farce. Targets were not placed in position until the day before camp broke, and no instructor was on the grounds, as we were informed there would be, to drill the troops in this important branch.

In regimental drills, deportment, and school of officers, the encampment was exceedingly instructive, and much good work was accomplished.

I have not had the pleasure of visiting all my companies in their armories; will do so later, and report fully.

Special orders have been issued that each company of my regiment shall perfect themselves in skirmish drill and target practice, and as the Quartermaster General only issues one thousand each blank and ball shells annually, I suggest that steps be taken to secure the ammunition from the National Government for this use, as it is of the utmost importance that our State Guard be well versed in these two important branches.

Since assuming command, all companies have complied with The Code, and I have been able to submit my monthly report to general headquarters.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

E. F. YOUNG,

Major Commanding Fourth Regiment, N. C. S. G.

Colonel W. C. Jones, Second Regiment N. C. S. G.,
Wilmington, N. C.:

DEAR SIR—In compliance with the regulations of the North Carolina State Guard, I submit the following report of the actions of the Rocky Mount Light Infantry in the recent disturbances at Rocky Mount, N. C.

GOVERNOR'S TELEGRAM.

RALEIGH, N. C., February 19, 1890.

Capt. S. L. Hart, Jr., Company D, Second Regiment, N. C. S. G.:

Report with company under arms at once to the Mayor. Do not permit your company to fire unless in case of real necessity, and at the written request of the Mayor or other civil officer.

D. G. FOWLE, Governor.

In compliance with the above orders, received through Captain S. L. Hart, Jr., from Governor D. G. Fowle, Commander-in-Chief, I reported to the Mayor of the town, Thomas H. Battle, Esq., in thirty minutes after receiving orders; thirty-eight men being present and none absent. Reporting to the Mayor, I received the following orders:

ROCKY MOUNT, N. C., Februay 19, 1890.

Captain H. R. Thorpe:

You will please use your force in patrolling the town. You will instruct your men to arrest all persons engaged in any breach of the law, using their guns only when absolutely necessary, and arresting offenders. In case of fire, or other disorder, you will preserve order and restrain any violence without regard to color. These orders will hold good until changed by me.

(Signed) THOMAS H. BATTLE, Mayor.

The above orders were strictly complied with, the town being thoroughly patrolled by a heavy force.

February 21st, 11:30 A. M., I received the following orders from the Mayor:

ROCKY MOUNT, N. C., February 21, 1890.

Captain H. R. Thorpe:

You will please give the following special orders to each of your troops: No one is to fire except to prevent a positive act of burning, or in self-defence, or when absolutely necessary to restrain violence; and violence must be restrained without regard to color. Please caution them on these points, as nothing would give me more regret than a killing, and each soldier will be held responsible for using every means possible to prevent a resort to this.

In dismissing your men to-morrow, please give them the sincere thanks of myself and all the citizens for their very efficient assistance.

(Signed) THOMAS H. BATTLE, Mayor.

On the night of the 19th, owing to the intense excitement in town, I thought it necessary to double the guard, necessitating my putting the men on double duty, which required the first relief going on duty from 6 P. M. to 12 M., and the second relief from 12 M. to 6 A. M.

On the nights of the 20th and 21st the excitement somewhat abated, and not fearing a mob as much as on the 19th, I discontinued some of the posts, which enabled me to have three reliefs of the guards: First relief from 6 P. M. to 11 P. M.: second relief from 11 P. M. to 3 A. M.; third relief from 3 A. M. to 6 A. M.

Everything passed off quietly, and there was no disobedience of orders, except that of private John T. Moore (which I dealt with myself), and Lieutenant John D. Odom, charges against whom you will find enclosed.

I hereby certify the above report to be correct to the best of my knowledge and belief.

H. R. THORPE,

Captain Company D, Second Regiment, N. C. S. G.

GENERAL ORDERS ISSUED IN 1890.

A. Cheatham, M. D., First Lieutenant and Assistant Surgeon Third Regiment, with rank from April 15th, 1889; vice Emmett, promoted.

II. Hereafter General Orders announcing changes in the State Guard will only be issued when there are a sufficient number of changes to justify the publication of the same, and Section 6, General Orders, No. 3, Series of 1888, is hereby revoked.

III. The title of the State Ordnance Officer is hereby changed to that of Chief of Ordnance, and the Engineer-in-Chief shall hereafter be designated Chief of Engineers.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief:

JAMES D. GLENN,
Adjutant General.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
General Headquarters, Adjutant General's Office,
RALEIGH, N. C., March 1, 1890.

[GENERAL ORDERS, No. 2.]

Owing to changes heretofore prescribed in General Orders, and such other modifications as have been rendered necessary by the new United States regulations for the issue of clothing, it is deemed necessary to revoke all former orders relating to the uniform of the State Guard, and the following is published for the guidance of all concerned:

FOR OFFICERS.

I. The uniform for all officers shall be the United States regulation (except all buttons are to be the N. C. State), and is to be as follows:

COATS.

Full-dress for Officers.—A double-breasted frock coat of dark-blue cloth, the skirt to extend from one-half to three-fourths the distance from the hip joint to the bend of the knee.

For a Brigadier General.—Two rows of buttons on the breast, eight in each row, placed by pairs, the distance between each row 5½ inches at top and 3½ inches at bottom; stand-up collar, not less than one nor more than two inches in height, to hook in front at the bottom and slope thence up and backward at an angle of thirty degrees on each side, corners rounded; cuffs three inches deep, with three small buttons at the under seam; pockets in the folds of the skirts, with two buttons at the hip and one at the lower end of each pocket, making four buttons on the back and skirt of the coat; collar and cuffs to be of dark-blue velvet; lining of the coat black.

For a Colonel, Lieutenant Colonel, or Major.—The same as for a Brigadier General, except that there will be nine buttons in each row, on the breast, placed at equal distances; collar and cuffs of the same color and material as the coat.

For a Captain, First Lieutenant and Second Lieutenant.—The same as for a colonel, except that there will be seven buttons in each row, on the breast.

This coat will be worn on all dress occasions, such as reviews, inspections, dress parades and courts-martial, and upon guards and drills when prescribed by the commanding officer. It may be worn with shoulder-straps when not on armed duty.

For a Chaplain.—Plain black frock coat, with standing collar; one row of nine black buttons on the breast. This coat is intended for both "full dress" and "undress."

UNDRESS FOR ALL OFFICERS.

For marches, fatigue duty and ordinary wear.—A sack coat of dark-blue cloth or serge, falling collar; single-breasted, with five buttons in front and three small buttons on the under seam of the cuff of each sleeve, arranged like those worn on the dress coat. To be with or without braid at the edges, at the option of the wearer; braid, when worn, not to exceed one-fourth of an inch in width. The skirt to extend from one-third to two-thirds the distance from the hip joint to the bend of the knee. The shoulder-straps will always be worn with this coat.

Full-dress for privates.—A double-breasted tunic of dark-blue cloth; skirt to extend one-third the distance from the hip-joint to the bend of the knee; two rows of buttons, seven in each row; collar same height as for officer's coat, faced with white cloth four inches back on each side, cut square, to hook up close in front; slashed cuffs of white cloth, with three small buttons; skirt of coat on each side of opening behind to be faced with white cloth, ornamented with four buttons. Two straps of white cloth, let into the waist seam on each side the coat, and buttoning above the hip, to sustain the waist belt; shoulder-straps of white cloth let into the shoulder-seam and to button at the collar-seam with one button.

Blouses for enlisted men.—A dark-blue navy flannel, single-breasted, with falling collar, and having five large buttons in front from neck to waist, and three small buttons on the cuff of each sleeve. To have three outside pockets, one on each side of skirt, one on the left breast, and one inside pocket on the right breast.

TROUSERS.

For Officers of the General and Brigade Staff.—Dark-blue cloth, without stripe, welt, or cord.

For Regimental Officers of Infantry.—Sky-blue kersey, with white stripe 1½ inch wide.

For enlisted men.—Sky-blue kersey, with white stripe one inch wide.

CHAPEAU OR HELMET (FULL DRESS).

For General Officers, Officers of General Staff and Staff Corps.—Chapeau according to pattern in office of the Quartermaster General; to be worn with the front peak turned slightly to the left, showing the gilt ornaments upon the right side.

Helmet for all Mounted Officers.—According to pattern in office of the Quartermaster General. Body of cork or other suitable material, covered with black cloth or of black felt, at the option of the wearer. Trimming, cord and tassels, top piece and plume sockets, chain chin-strap and hooks, eagle with motto, crossed cannon, rifles, or sabers, all gilt, with number of regiment on the shield in white; plume of buffalo hair—white for infantry, yellow for cavalry, and red for artillery.

Helmets for all Officers of the Line not Mounted.—Same as above, except that the trimmings are as follows: Top-piece, spike, chain chin-strap, with hooks and side buttons, eagle with motto, crossed rifles or cannon, all gilt, with the number of the regiment on the shield in white. The helmet-cords will be attached to the left side of the helmet and come down to the left shoulder, where they are held together by a slide; one cord then passed to the front and the other to the rear of the neck: crossing upon the right shoulder and passing separately around to the front and rear of the right arm, where they are again united and held together by a slide under the arm; the united cords then cross the breast and are looped up to the upper button on the left side of the coat.

For Chaplains.—A plain black hat. This hat is intended for "full-dress" and "undress."

FORAGE CAPS.

Dark-blue cloth, United States regulation, for officers and enlisted men, except that on the front of cap of enlisted men crossed rifles (for infantry), and regimental and company letter in metal shall be worn.

Shoulder-knots, shoulder-straps, swords, belts, belt-plates and chevrons are all to be United States regulation.

GLOVES.

White Berlin, for all foot officers and enlisted men. For mounted officers, buff or white gauntlets, or gloves.

OVERCOATS.

For Officers.—A double-breasted ulster of dark-blue cloth, lined with dark blue flannel, closing by means of four frog buttons of black mohair and loops of black mohair cord down the breast, and at the throat by a long mohair loop on the left side, as in the standard sample, without tassel or plate, and a black mohair frog button on the right; cord for the loops fifteen-hundredths of an inch in diameter; around each frog button on the breast a knot two and one-quarter inches in diameter of black mohair cord seven-hundredths of an inch in diameter; the back slit up from the bottom from twenty to twenty-five inches, according to the height of the wearer, and closing at will by buttons, and button-holes placed in a concealed flap; bottom of the skirt nine to twelve inches from the ground; a rolling collar of the same material as the coat, and broad enough, when turned up, to protect the ears, having a collar-loop about four and a half inches long and one and a half inches wide, two horizontal side pockets on the outside, just below the hip, covered with flaps to be worn inside or out; sleeves loose. without cuff or slit; back-straps to consist of two straps, each about eight inches long and two inches wide, let into the side seams of back of coat; left-hand strap to have a button-hole, and the right-hand strap to have two buttons about two inches apart; a vertical slit about six inches long at the side of the left hip, large enough to admit the front sling and hook of the sword-belt; a hood of the same material as the coat, lined with black Italian cloth or other suitable material, made to button around the neck under the collar, and large enough to cover the head and cap, to be worn at night or in inclement weather. The belt will be worn under the coat, with the sword or saber outside, the rear sling passing out at the slit at the back. The insignia of rank on the sleeves, of black flat mohair braid, one-eighth of an inch in width, as follows, viz: Colonel, five braids, single knot; Lieutenant-Colonel, four braids, single knot; Major, three braids, single knot; Captain, two braids, single knot; First Lieutenant, one braid, single knot; Second Lieutenant, without braid.

For enlisted men.—Sky-blue cloth, United States regulation.

BLANKETS.

United States regulation in size, color and weight.

II. The uniform clothing issued by the Government is to be strictly cared for and accounted for. Special care must, at all times, be given its preservation.

III. This uniform will be worn on the occasions specified in the Regulations, and also at the twelve monthly parades required in each year.

By order of the Commander-in-chief:

JAMES D. GLENN.
Adjutant-General.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
General Headquarters, Adjutant General's Office,
RALEIGH, March 8, 1890.

[GENERAL ORDERS, No. 3.]

I. Since the last General Order the following changes have occurred in the North Carolina State Guard:

COMMISSIONS ISSUED.

Robert S. Young, Captain Company G, Fourth Regiment, with rank from January 1st, 1889. Re-commissioned.

John F. Reid, First Lieutenant Company G, Fourth Regiment, with rank from January 6th, 1890; vice Archey, resigned.

W. S. Bingham, Second Lieutenant Company G, Fourth Regiment, with rank from January 6th, 1890; vice Wadsworth, resigned.

Wm. A. Johnson, Captain Company F, Second Regiment, with rank from January 3d, 1890; vice Faison, resigned.

A. H. Herring, Second Lieutenant Company F, Second Regiment, with rank from January 3d, 1890; vice Stephens, resigned.

J. A. Conner, Captain and Commissary Fourth Regiment, with rank from January 15th, 1890; vice McIntosh, resigned.

John W. Cross, First Lieutenant Company C, First Regiment, with rank from August 6th, 1890; vice Whitehead, resigned.

W. A. Linehan, Second Lieutenant Company C, First Regiment, with rank from August 6th, 1889; vice Cross, promoted.

John F. Bruton, Captain Company G, Second Regiment, with rank from June 13th, 1889.

W. P. Wooten, First Lieutenant Company G, Second Regiment, with rank from June 13th, 1889.

J. W. Crowell, Second Lieutenant Company G, Second Regiment, with rank from June 13th, 1889.

J. C. Tipton, Captain Company B, Third Regiment, with rank from February 10th, 1890; vice Schenck, resigned.

R. A. L. Hyatt, Captain Company C, Fourth Regiment, with rank from February 15th, 1890; vice Brown, resigned.

S. L. Hyatt, First Lieutenant Company C, Fourth Regiment, with rank from February 15th, 1890; vice Hyatt, promoted.

H. G. Rhyne, First Lieutenant Company K, Fourth Regiment, with rank from February 24th, 1890; vice Thompson, resigned.

E. L. Mason, Second Lieutenant Company K, Fourth Regiment, with rank from February 24th, 1890; vice Rhyne, promoted.

NEW COMPANIES.

The Wilson Light Infantry, Captain John F. Bruton, Wilson, having complied with the rules and regulations governing the admission of new companies into the State Guard, is hereby accepted by the Commander-in-Chief and is assigned to the Second Regiment, and will be lettered Company G.

II. Major B. B. Goines having tendered his resignation as Major First Battalion, it is hereby accepted, and the "First Battalion" formation disbanded, and the commissions of all staff officers of said Battalion are hereby revoked, and they will at once forward any State property in their hands to Colonel F. A. Olds, Quartermaster General and Chief of Ordnance, Raleigh, N. C.

Company B, First Battalion, will hereafter be designated Charlotte Light Infantry "unattached," and Captain Taylor will forward all reports directly to the Adjutant General.

III. Commandants of Companies will hereafter see that "a cloth bound" copy of the Adjutant General's Report for each year (including the one for 1889) be kept with the books of their companies as a part of the records of the company.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief:

JAMES D. GLENN,
Adjutant General.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
Adjutant General's Department,
RALEIGH, March 31st, 1890.

[GENERAL ORDERS, No. 4.]

Permission is hereby granted to all regularly organized troops of other States to enter and pass through, with the privilege of halting at pleasure in the State of North Carolina, armed and equipped, en route to and returning from the ceremonies connected with the dedication of the monument to General Robert E. Lee, at Richmond, Va., on the 29th day of May, 1890.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief:

JAMES D. GLENN,
Adjutant General.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
General Headquarters, Adjutant General's Office,
RALEIGH, April 5th, 1890.

[GENERAL ORDERS, No. 5.]

I. Since the last General Order, the following changes have occurred in the North Carolina State Guard:

COMMISSIONS ISSUED.

E. C. Holt, Captain Company F, Third Regiment, with rank from January 4th, 1890.

W. H. Carroll, First Lieutenant Company F, Third Regiment, with rank from January 4th, 1890.

J. H. Holt, Jr., Second Lieutenant Company F, Third Regiment, with rank from January 4th, 1890.

W. N. Scales, First Lieutenant Company B, Third Regiment, with rank from March 10th, 1890; vice Gilmer, resigned.

J. C. Murchison, Second Lieutenant, Company B, Third Regiment, with rank from March 10th, 1890; vice Schenck, resigned.

Duff Merrick, Captain Company F, Fourth Regiment, with rank from March 14th, 1890; vice Barnard, resigned.

J. K. Cowan, First Lieutenant Company F, Fourth Regiment, with rank from March 14th, 1890; vice Merrick, promoted.

T. M. Kimberly, Second Lieutenant Company F, Fourth Regiment, with rank from March 14th, 1890; vice Cowan, promoted.

NEW COMPANIES.

The Burlington Light Infantry, Captain E. C. Holt, Burlington, having complied with the rules and regulations governing the admission of new companies into the State Guard, is hereby accepted by the Commander-in-Chief and is assigned to the Third Regiment, and will be lettered Company G.

II. The special attention of all officers is hereby called to paragraphs 72 and 73, Section 5, Article 3 of State Guard Regulations, and no resignations shall hereafter be tendered or accepted except in strict conformity to the same.

III. As there seems to be an erroneous idea prevalent among the members of some of the companies of the State Guard that an enlisted man can resign at his pleasure, for the information of all concerned attention is called to Section 3, Article 4 of the Regulations, and paragraphs 99 and 100 of said section will hereafter be strictly enforced. Blank forms for application for discharges will be furnished company commanders by the Adjutant General, and when properly filled and approved by company and regimental commanders and returned to him, certificate of an honorable discharge from the service will be given. Every enlisted man who absents himself without leave for the space of nine months from all meetings, drills or parades of his company, will be considered a deserter, and published in orders as such. See paragraph 102, Section 4, Article 4 of the Regulations.

IV. So much of the provisions of Section 11, General Orders, No. 69 (series of 1883), requiring the attendance of regimental commanders at the Annual Inspection of the companies of their command by the Inspector General, is hereby revoked.

V. The above, however, is not intended to apply to paragraph No. 200 of the "State Guard Regulations," which will remain in full force and effect, and any neglect of which in future will be subject to special report by the Inspecting Officer.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief:

JAMES D. GLENN,
Adjutant General.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
General Headquarters, Adjutant General's Office,
RALEIGH, May 3d, 1890.

[GENERAL ORDERS, No. 6.]

Company A, Second Regiment, North Carolina State Guard, is allowed to withdraw from the State Guard, and is restored to its former status as an independent company, to be designated as the Fayetteville Light Infantry Company, under the Act of the General Assembly of 1819. It will be subject only to orders from the Commander-in-Chief. It will retain the arms and equipments now in its possession, but the overcoats heretofore issued to it whilst a member of the State Guard will be returned to Col. F. A. Olds, Quartermaster General, who, upon receipt of the same, will deliver to said company the bond executed by said company for said overcoats.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief:

JAMES D. GLENN,
Adjutant General.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
General Headquarters, Adjutant General's Office,
RALEIGH, May 3d, 1890.

[GENERAL ORDERS, No. 7.]

All the companies of the State Guard having been invited to participate in the ceremonies incident to the unveiling of the Lee monument, to take place in Richmond, Va., on the 29th instant, permission is hereby granted to each company to leave the State, armed and equipped, for that purpose. While on the journey the provisions of Article 18, State Guard Regulations, on "Transportation," must be observed.

The entire command will be formed as a brigade under the senior officer present, and each regiment, or part of a regiment, will be commanded by the senior officer of the regiment present, subject to orders from the brigade commander.

In view of the fact that there are no State funds out of which the expenses of the men can be paid, the movement of the troops must, therefore, be purely voluntary.

The Commander-in-Chief desires to express his gratification that so many companies of the State Guard have signified their purpose to attend the celebration at their own expense.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief:

JAMES D. GLENN,
Adjutant General.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
General Headquarters, Adjutant General's Office,
RALEIGH, May 10, 1890.

[GENERAL ORDERS, No. 8.]

I. The encampment of the State Guard during the present year will be Regimental, and not a Brigade Encampment as heretofore.

II. Two Regiments will go into camp at a time, and while each Colonel will be held strictly responsible for the work and discipline of his own command, and for a strict adherence to the rules and regulations prescribed, the general command of the camp will devolve upon the senior line officer present.

III. The Brigadier General will, at his convenience, visit and inspect the several regiments during their encampment.

IV. The encampment will be held upon the grounds occupied last year, which have been again generously tendered the State for the present year. The camp will again be known as Camp Latimer.

V. The First and Third Regiments will encamp together from July 22d to July 29th, inclusive, and the Second and Fourth Regiments will encamp together from August 5th to 12th, inclusive.

VI. All officers and enlisted men of the several regiments will appear at Camp Latimer on the evening of the first day of encampment of their respective regiments, in heavy marching order, and, immediately upon arrival, report to the Adjutant General for duty.

VII. Each regiment will have its own camp, camp-guards and guard lines, but the camps will be located upon the same ground, in close proximity to each other. During the encampment of the Second Regiment (Col. W. C. Jones), the Scotland Neck Mounted Riflemen (dismounted) will be temporarily attached to that command.

VIII. The movement of each company or detachment will be directed by general or special order to be issued hereafter.

IX. Troops will be furnished transportation by the State. The vouchers for such service must be made out on blank certificates supplied from this office. Transportation will be allowed regimental bands and company drummers, and also caterers and servants—one caterer and two servants to each company, to each regimental headquarters, and to each regimental band. Field and staff officers, with their servants, may be transported with the company at or nearest their place of residence, or otherwise on single tickets, as may be specially directed; and company commanders are required to report such persons with their companies in the certificate of transportation.

X. Commanders of regiments will ascertain and report to the Adjutant General, forthwith, the number of men for whom transportation will be required for their respective regiments. Company commanders will make requisition upon the station agent at the point of departure for transportation for their respective commands, using therefor the blank forms supplied from this office.

XI. Companies must attend with at least thirty men, rank and file. The Commander-in-Chief expresses the hope that each company will appear with full ranks, and to this end he earnestly requests employers of members of the State Guard to give the necessary leaves of absence, as non-attendance of any company embraced in this order may lead to the disbandment of such company.

XII. Company commanders will take no enlisted men to camp who are without uniforms or arms, or who cannot remain. Transportation home prior to close of camp will be issued only to cover leave of absence granted upon surgeon's certificate of disability, or by reason of serious illness or death in officer's or soldier's family.

XIII. Floored tents, straw for bedding, fuel, water and medicine will be provided, as well as ample hospital accommodations. Troops must furnish their own rations, the military fund being inadequate for such purpose.

XIV. The Quartermaster General is charged with laying out the camp, erecting the tents, quartering the troops and issuing such supplies as are furnished by the State, and no bills contracted by regimental officers will be allowed unless ordered and approved by the Quartermaster General. He will enter upon the active discharge of his duties at such time as may be designated by the Commander-in-Chief.

XV. Special orders will be issued by Regimental Commanders directing the Quartermasters of their respective regiments, and a detail of two men from each company, to report to the Quartermaster General at Camp Latimer, at such time as the latter officer shall direct.

XVI. The Inspector General will repair to Camp Latimer on the day previous to each encampment, for the purpose of inspecting and reporting upon the preparatory condition of the camps, and during the respective encampments will carefully inspect and report upon the conduct of the same; all reports to be made direct to the Adjutant General.

XVII. The Surgeon General is charged with the care of the sick, the hospital and sanitary condition of the camp. He will enter upon active discharge of his duties during each encampment, Regimental Surgeons, Assistant Surgeons and Hospital Stewards will report to the Surgeon General immediately upon arrival at camp for orders and instructions.

XVIII. The Chief of Staff is charged with the execution of this order, and to that end he will enter upon active duty in making all necessary arrangements, rendering a detailed statement of any expenses incurred in this behalf, and make full report to the Governor.

XIX. The object of these encampments being the instruction and improvement of the Guard, strict discipline will be enforced, in accordance with the regulations and such additional orders as may be prescribed by the Commander-in-Chief. Instructions and exercises will be mainly directed to camp duties, guard duty, skirmish drill, the school of the battalion and to rifle practice.

XX. Company commanders will see that the men carry as little baggage as possible; boxes and trunks will not be allowed in the company streets. No member of the Guard will be allowed to appear in citizen's clothes while his regiment is in camp, and officers and men found disobeying this will be liable to arrest.

XXI. Each encampment will be visited by the Commander-in-Chief and reviewed by him on days to be hereafter announced.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

JAMES D. GLENN,
Adjutant General.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
General Headquarters, Adjutant General's Office,
RALEIGH, June 10th, 1890.

[GENERAL ORDERS, No. 9.]

I. Since the last General Order announcing changes, the following have occurred in the North Carolina State Guard.

COMMISSIONS ISSUED.

J. N. Gibbons, Second Lieutenant Company I, Third Regiment, with rank from March 14, 1890; vice Hancock, resigned.

S. C. Motz, Second Lieutenant Company B, Fourth Regiment, with rank from April 8, 1890; vice Ramsour, commission expired.

J. G. Powell, Second Lieutenant Company A, Fourth Regiment, with rank from May 10, 1890; vice Conner, promoted.

II. The Sampson Light Infantry, Company F, Second Regiment, will hereafter be lettered and designated as Company A, Second Regiment; and the Wilson Light Infantry, Company G, Second Regiment, will hereafter be lettered and designated as Company F, Second Regiment.

III. The Manual of Guard Duty, prepared by Lieut. L. W. V. Kennon, Sixth U. S. Infantry, having been approved by the War Department "for the government of all United States troops in the performance of Guard Duty," the same is hereby prescribed for the use of the North Carolina State Guard.

Paragraphs 74, 89, 105, 115, 122, 125, 133, 143, 163, 177, 183, 196, 199 of the Manual, which contain provisions from the new drill regulations, will be executed in accordance with the tactics in use at present until the former are officially prescribed.

IV. From and after July 1st, 1890, all companies of the State Guard will be required to parade for duty, under orders from the State, in the State regulation uniform, as prescribed in General Orders No. 2, C. S., and any company parading under such orders in any other than the prescribed dress will not be recognized.

This requirement does not in the least affect the right of the troops to wear a corps dress of their own selection on occasions of parade or ceremony not ordered by the State.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief:

JAMES D. GLENN,
Adjutant General.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
General Headquarters, Adjutant General's Office,
RALEIGH, June 28, 1890.

[GENERAL ORDERS, No. 10.]

1. Small-arms practice will hereafter form a part of the military instruction of the North Carolina State Guard, and will be conducted, except as herein provided, according to the methods of "Blunt's Small-arms Firing Regulations," as used in the regular army.

2. Practice will be supervised and inspected by an Inspector General of small-arms practice with the rank of Colonel, and in each regiment by a Regimental Inspector of small-arms practice with the rank of Captain, but the details of instruction will be given by the company officers and non-commissioned officers.

3. It being essential that these instructors should themselves be proficient, both in the theoretical and practical portions of the subject, they are enjoined to make themselves thoroughly familiar with the system of instruction prescribed in the Firing Regulations, and are required to participate in all preliminary instruction and in the target practice of their commands.

4. Success in rifle firing being, in so large a degree, dependent upon the interest taken in the subject, all officers will endeavor to awaken the enthusiasm and emulation of their men, and while encouraging the successful shots will be careful not to dishearten the least proficient, reminding them that attention to instruction and persistent effort will, ultimately, be amply rewarded. Officers will also bear in mind that a command in which all the men have been brought to attain a fair degree of accuracy in rifle firing is of much greater general efficiency than if only the ability of some few expert shots had been developed, and the instruction of the majority comparatively neglected.

5. Before the opening of the "practice season" for range firing in each year, instruction will be given, according to the methods of the Firing Regulations, in sighting drills, in position and aiming drills, and, when practicable, in gallery practice, with reduced charges. These exercises will be had in the company armories or squad-rooms, and conducted with every possible care and thoroughness, as they afford the surest means of ultimately attaining accuracy on the range.

6. The "practice season" during each year will include the period of the general encampment and a period before and after it, and, unless otherwise ordered, will commence annually on June 1st and end on the 31st of August. Only such scores as are made within this time, and in accordance with the Firing Regulations and this Order, will be considered in making up the aggregate required to determine the class in which any soldier will be included.

7. The limited allowance of ammunition obtainable, not permitting the prosecution of the recruit, second season and subsequent courses of preliminary and regular practice as specified in the Firing Regulations, the following single course is substituted, and will be pursued by each officer and man.

8. The preliminary practice at known distances will include not more than five shots at 100 yards, five shots at 300 yards, and five shots at 500 yards, and for each soldier may be entirely or partially omitted in the discretion of the company commander.

9. The record, or regular practice, at known distances, will comprise one score of five shots at each of the ranges, 200 and 300 yards, and two scores at 500 yards. If in this practice any soldier attains a total score of eighty, his regular practice will be extended to 600 yards, where one score of five shots will be fired. In regular practice the positions assumed and targets employed will be as prescribed in the Firing Regulations, and under the rules there given. Particular attention is directed to paragraphs 183 to 186, and 221 to 251 inclusive.

10. In individual skirmish firing the preliminary practice will include as much of that specified in paragraph 329, Firing Regulations, as the ammunition available will permit. In any case the men will be exercised in advancing and retreating, estimating distances and adjusting sights, taking positions and going through the motions of loading, without cartridges, aiming and pulling trigger, using the group target as an objective, until they become familiar with the principles of skirmishing.

11. The regular or record practice in individual skirmishing will consist of one advance and retreat, conducted as prescribed in paragraphs 326 and 327, Firing Regulations, except that only one shot will be fired at each halt, or a total of but ten shots in all. In this practice the group target employed, the system of scoring and the general methods governing the firing, will be as specified in paragraphs 321 to 335 inclusive, to which particular attention is directed.

12. All practice, whether on local ranges or on that of the general encampment, will be under the charge of the company officers, though, if convenient, the command may be divided into squads, and the immediate instruction given by competent non-commissioned officers; but all shots fired for record during the practice season must be fired in the presence and under the general supervision of a commissioned officer of the company, or some officer of the general staff, or of the field and staff of the regiment to which the company belongs.

13. The soldier's classification will be determined according to the general system given in Chapter IV, Part 4, Firing Regulations; but as the amount of regular practice is but one-eighth of the individual firing, as there specified, for a "second season's course," the aggregates required will be proportionally reduced, and hence will be as follows:

a. For qualification as a sharpshooter, an aggregate in regular practice at the known distances, 200, 300, 500 and 600 yards, and in regular skirmish practice of 125.

b. For the marksman's class, an aggregate of ninety in regular practice at 200, 300 and 500 yards, and as a skirmisher.

c. For the first class an aggregate of seventy-five.

d. For the second class an aggregate of fifty-seven.

e. The third class will be composed of those who have practiced and failed to make the aggregates qualifying them for the second class.

f. The fourth class will be composed of all the remaining members of the company who may be borne on its rolls at the close of the practice season.

14. To those qualifying as sharpshooters, certificates and badges will be issued as prescribed by the Firing Regulations. To marksmen, when first qualifying, the marksmen's button; for a second year a pin of bronze with bars for the current and the prior year, to which an additional bar will be added for each subsequent year of qualification. Sharpshooters' and marksmen's insignia will not both be issued to the same man for the same year's firing.

15. The individual figure of merit of each organization (company, regiment and entire Guard) will be determined by multiplying the number of sharpshooters by 200, the number of marksmen by 100, the number of first-class men by 60, the number of second-class men by 30, the number of third-class men by 10, the number in the fourth class by 0, and dividing the sum of the products thus obtained by the total number in the above six classes.

16. Where practicable, the known-distance firing, or at least a portion of it, both preliminary and for record, will be held on local ranges, when they may be obtainable, leaving only the completion of the known-distance firing and the skirmish practice for the time of the general encampment. When this cannot be done the entire record practice will be held on the range at the general camp.

17. All scores made during the practice season must be noted and kept in ink or indelible pencil, by or under the supervision of the company commander. Scores for record practice will be kept separate and distinct from shots in preliminary firing.

18. Scores made on the range at the general encampment will, if constituting part of the required record practice, be taken up by the proper company commanders when duly reported and certified to them by the officer in charge of the firing. The entire record practice will then be certified to by the company officers, said certificates being substantially in the form laid down in the Firing Regulations.

19. On or before September 5th of each year company commanders will make out and forward a report in duplicate on the blanks furnished from this office, corresponding to Form 30—b, Firing Regulations, showing the totals of all record scores made by the members of their respective commands during the preceding practice season, the classification of the company and the resulting figure of merit. These reports will be examined by the regimental inspector of small-arms practice, returned for correction, if necessary, and finally forwarded as promptly as possible, one copy to the Inspector General of Small-Arms Practice and the other to regimental headquarters.

20. This order shall be in full force from and after this date, except that all shots fired for record for the year 1890 will be fired on ranges at the annual encampment of the respective regiments.

21. Captain Stanhope E. Blunt, Ordnance Department U. S. Army, having been detailed by the Secretary of War to attend the annual encampments of the North Carolina State Guard for this year for the purpose of giving instruction in rifle practice, he will have entire supervision of this branch of the service during the encampments, and regimental commanders will issue such orders and instructions in relation thereto as he may direct. All officers and men are urged to render him a hearty co-operation in the performance of the duties imposed upon him, and, as an officer of the United States, he will be obeyed and respected accordingly.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief:

JAMES D. GLENN,
Adjutant General.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
General Headquarters, Adjutant General's Office,
RALEIGH, July 2d, 1890.

II. Commanding officers are cautioned to observe and strictly enforce the regulations regarding the transportation of troops by rail, prescribed in Article XVIII, State Guard Regulations.

III. Detachments of each regiment en route will be commanded by the senior officer of the line present.

IV. The commanding officer of each company, detachment or regiment, will notify the Adjutant General by telegram, upon taking the cars at the point of departure; and will promptly notify him of any accident or serious delay, addressing him at Wrightsville.

V. The headquarters of the Adjutant General will be at Wrightsville from the 20th of July, where all communications for him should be addressed.

VI. Encampments of the North Carolina State Guard being held by authority of law, all officers and enlisted men of the several regiments are required to be present for duty. Regimental commanders will report to this office any commissioned officers absent from their regiments, with all the facts regarding the cause of absence. They will also forward to these headquarters in the field, daily, during the encampments, a "Consolidated Morning Report" of their respective regiments.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief:

JAMES D. GLENN,
Adjutant General.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
General Headquarters, Adjutant General's Office,
RALEIGH, July 10, 1890.

[GENERAL ORDERS, No. 12.]

I. The following hours of service and roll-calls will be observed at the encampments of the North Carolina State Guard to be held at Camp Latimer under the provision of General Orders, No. 8, C. S., and regimental commanders will see they are promptly sounded:

Reveille		6:00 A. M.
Sick-call		6:30 A. M.
Breakfast		6:45 A. M.
First Sergeant's call		7:15 A. M.
Fatigue call		7:30 A. M.
Guard-mounting		7:45 A. M.
Morning drill		8:45 A. M.
Recall from drill		10:15 A. M.
Dinner		1:00 P. M.
School-call (officers)		3:30 P. M.
Afternoon drill		4:30 P. M.
Recall from drill		6:00 P. M.
Dress Parade	Assembly	6:30 P. M.
	Adjutant's call	6:40 P. M.
Retreat		Sunset.
Tattoo		10:00 P. M.
Taps		10:30 P. M.

Camp will be opened on afternoon of July 22d and August 5th immediately on arrival of troops, and guards will be posted at once.

II. Assembly of trumpeters will be sounded ten minutes before all stated roll-calls, and all calls will be sounded at regimental headquarters only. Challenging will begin at tattoo.

III. Sunday inspection will take place at 8:30 A. M., under the supervision of the Inspector General. Divine services will be held at such hours as may be ordered by the commanding officers of regiments. There will be no drills on Sunday.

IV. Drills will be restricted to the school of the battalion and to skirmish drill. Regimental commanders will assemble all field and company officers at the appointed hour each day for theoretical instruction in tactics and guard duty; they will also see that company commanders assemble the non-commissioned officers of their respective companies for theoretical instruction in guard duty. At close of battalion drill the movements to be executed at next drill will be announced, in order that all officers may have ample time to carefully inform themselves before going on drill. All riotous assemblages, such as "Mulligan Guards," etc., will be strictly prohibited.

V. Regimental commanders will give special attention to the instruction of the troops under their command in guard duty, and will require this duty to be performed with thorough accuracy and exactness in every particular, both day and night.

VI. Each company is expected to be already drilled in company movements, and there will be no stated drills in the school of the company; but company drills may be allowed by regimental commanders outside the regular drill hours, upon application of the company commander.

VII. Drills will be executed in fatigue dress. The full dress should be worn only at guard-mounting and dress parade.

VIII. During the encampments no member of the Guard will be allowed to wear citizen's clothes, and the insignia on the cap, showing the number of regiment and the letter of the company to which the soldier belongs, must be worn at all times.

IX. Citizens will not be allowed the privilege of the camp between tattoo and reveille except on the written permission of the regimental commander.

X. All troops, except those on duty, will be permitted to leave camp each day between 10:15 A. M. and 3:30 P. M., and from dress parade till tattoo, without special permit. Permits to leave during other hours must be obtained from regimental commanders, and any enlisted man found out of camp after taps, without permit, will be promptly arrested.

XI. Regimental and company baggage will be reduced to the minimum consistent with the comfort of the troops.

XII. No flag poles or conspicuous flags, devices or banners to mark any company, band or regiment will be allowed except at regimental headquarters.

XIII. Troops are charged to use the tents and other public property in their possession with the greatest care. Tents must not be marked, defaced or abused, and all commanding officers will be held to a strict accountability for any injury to such property.

XIV. The thorough instruction in rifle practice being one of the objects of these encampments, regimental commanders are required to make such details at such hours as they may be directed to do by Capt. S. E. Blunt, U. S. Army; they will also make such details as they may be directed for instruction in "heavy gun" drill.

XV. Morning reports must be sent to the office of the regimental adjutants by 8 A. M. Regimental surgeons will send their sick reports to the Surgeon General by the same hour. The consolidated morning reports of regiments must be sent to the Adjutant General by 9 A. M. each day.

XVI. While strict discipline must be enforced, ample time will be allowed for recreation and enjoyment. Nothing will be left undone to secure the comfort and contribute to the reasonable pleasure of the men consistent with the objects of these encampments. Every member of the Guard, it is hoped, will take pride and pleasure in doing his duty faithfully and well towards making these encampments a success in every particular, a credit to the soldiers of North Carolina, and a thing of real value to the State.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief:

JAMES D. GLENN,
Adjutant General.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
General Headquarters, Adjutant General's Office,
July 18th, 1890.

II. Company E, Fourth Regiment, Captain T. R. Robertson, having been granted permission to attend the first Encampment to be held at Camp Latimer July 22d to 29th inclusive, will leave Charlotts via C. C. R. R. on July 22d and report for duty on evening of that day, and during Encampment will be attached to First Regiment. So much of General Orders, No. 11, C. S., as relates to Company E, Fourth Regiment, is hereby revoked.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief:

JAMES D. GLENN,
Adjutant General.

HEADQUARTERS NORTH CAROLINA STATE GUARD,
Camp Latimer,
WRIGHTSVILLE, N. C., August 11th, 1890.

[GENERAL ORDERS, No. 14.]

The Governor and Commander-in-Chief desires to express to the State Guard, who attended the encampments at Camp Latimer during the months of July and August, 1890, his high appreciation of their soldierly conduct while in camp.

Their improvement in drill and discipline, the superiority of their appearance—now that all are clothed in their country's uniform—the prompt obedience to orders, and the cheerful acquiescence in all measures of a sanitary character, have made the regimental encampments of 1890 memorable in the history of the State. Officers, non-commissioned officers and privates of the North Carolina State Guard, your State has just reason to be proud of your conduct.

To the officers of the General Staff, each in his own department, is to be attributed special praise for the energy, capacity and faithfulness with which their manifold duties have been performed.

The presence of that accomplished officer, Captain S. E. Blunt, of the Ordnance Department United States Army, has been highly appreciated; while the non-commissioned officers and privates, detailed by the Government for assistance and instruction at the Battery, have added greatly to the interest of the occasion.

To the citizens of Wilmington and vicinity, the Commander-in-Chief is but voicing the wishes of the whole command, when he tenders the thanks of the entire Guard for their many courtesies; while special thanks are due to the General Secretary and officers of the Young Men's Christian Association for their kindness and courtesy, as well as the efforts made by them for the comfort and welfare of the Guard, which have been highly beneficial.

Thanks are also due to the officers of the railroad companies for their kindness in transporting the troops without expense to the State.

DANIEL G. FOWLE.
Governor and Commander-in-Chief.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
General Headquarters, Adjutant General's Office,
RALEIGH, November 10, 1890.

[GENERAL ORDERS, No. 15.]

I. The biennial election of field officers will be held on the first Thursday in December next, in accordance with section 3286 of The Code.

[GENERAL ORDERS, No. 17.]

I. At the biennial elections held on the fourth instant in obedience to General Orders, No. 15, dated November 10th, 1890, the following Field Officers were duly elected, and will be obeyed and respected accordingly:

SECOND REGIMENT.

Colonel, William C. Jones, Wilmington; Lieut. Colonel, John F. Bruton, Wilson; Major, W. L. Faison, Clinton,

THIRD REGIMENT.

Colonel, William T. Gray, Winston; Lieut. Colonel, Samuel H. Boyd, Reidsville; Major, Alex. S. Lanier, Oxford.

FOURTH REGIMENT.

Colonel, James T. Anthony, Charlotte; Lieut. Colonel, James G. Martin, Asheville; Major, Ernest F. Young, Charlotte.

II. A sufficient number of the officers of the First Regiment not having attended the election ordered on the fourth instant, the commissioned officers of the companies of that regiment are hereby ordered to meet at Rocky Mount on Tuesday the 6th of January, 1891, for the purpose of electing a Colonel, a Lieutenant Colonel, and a Major for said regiment. This election will be held in accordance with Article III, Section 1 of the Code of Regulations, and all officers are urged to be represented, either in person or by proxy.

III. Company F, Fourth Regiment (Asheville Light Infantry), having failed to comply with the requirements of law and existing regulations, is hereby placed at the foot of the list of companies of the State Guard, and is also debarred from receiving the annual appropriation for the year 1890.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

JAMES D. GLENN,
Adjutant General.

SPECIAL ORDERS.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
Adjutant General's Department,
RALEIGH, March 26th, 1890.

[SPECIAL ORDERS, No. 1.]

In order that the provisions of section 3289 of The Code may be complied with, and under authority granted in section 3257 of The Code, as amended by the Laws of 1887, Colonel F. H. Cameron, Inspector General of North Carolina, is hereby ordered to inspect the several companies of the State Guard at his convenience for 1890. Due notice of the date appointed for the inspection of each company must be given to commandant of said company and also to regimental commanders. The results of such inspections shall be reported to this office.

By order of the Commander-in Chief:

JAMES D. GLENN,
Adjutant General.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
Adjutant General's Department,
GREENSBORO, N. C., October 16th, 1890.

[SPECIAL ORDERS, No. 2.]

The Charlotte Light Infantry, Captain C. S. L. A. Tayloe, will go into camp at Raleigh, N. C., from October 20th to 25th, inclusive. Company will leave Charlotte on morning of 20th October via Richmond and Danville Railroad, and upon arrival at Raleigh will march directly to camp and enter upon active duty. Transportation will be furnished by the State. Article XVIII, State Guard Regulations, must be strictly observed. Hours for service and roll-calls will be observed as in General Orders, No. 12, C. S., as amended by Adjutant General.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief:

JAMES D. GLENN,
Adjutant General.
